Dear DLSZ Parents,

The continuing crisis in Marawi and the surrounding towns have affected thousands of families who are in need of support and assistance. Public school teachers in Marawi are among the affected.

In our experience during Typhoon Yolanda, we found that aside from physical nourishment, it is important to also help uplift their spirits and give dignity. One effective way to do this was to help teachers feel beautiful by giving them lipstick and make up. Consequently, the smile on teachers' faces can infect thousands of students and provide hope.

In this regard, we are appealing for donations of lipsticks and makeup for 5000 teachers and volunteer workers in the front lines of humanitarian work. We hope you can be part of this simple but effective gesture of solidarity by providing dignity through beauty.

Sincerely,
